

Great players wanted for great teamwork

TECHNICAL CONSULTANT

OM Partners develops and implements software solutions for supply chain planning, ever since 1985. Our customers include many of the largest companies in the world. You'll discover the exciting world in which today's market leaders operate and help them to optimize their supply chain.

RESPONSIBILITIES

As a technical consultant, you work closely together with the application consultants in customer projects, but you take care of the more technical part of the job, e.g. integration issues and customized algorithms.

PROFILE

You have a master degree with a technical background combined with a basic interest in supply chain planning.

You also have an excellent command of German and English.

You are creative and eager to learn, and you can work autonomously.

